Completing the PhD and writing this thesis was an amazing journey that would not have been possible without the support and encouragement of many outstanding people.

My greatest appreciation and gratitude goes to my advisors Gerard van der Laan and Harold Houba for their trust and support. Their patience in guiding me through all phases during my PhD greatly encourages me to finish this thesis. Though they are busy, somehow they always get time to discuss research with me. Formulating a problem using mathematical economics language is an art I gradually learn from them. We also experience exciting and frustrating (though most of the time) moments of our research projects together. I am really lucky that I could have you as my advisors. The training I receive in mathematical economics will certainly benefit my whole life.

I am very grateful to Ariel Dinar to host me in California in December 2014. My knowledge and view in water economics is much more broadened thanks to the sharing of his excellent expert knowledge. I would also like to thank Miroslav Marenc to cooperate on one research project. Though from different disciplines, we had a lot of interesting discussions. My thanks are extended to the members of the small committee, who were willing to evaluate this thesis and agreed to take part in the defense.

I would also like to thank my colleagues at the Department of Econometrics, VU University Amsterdam to provide a stimulating research environment and also a very pleasant working environment. My gratitude extends to my cohorts, colleagues and friends at the Tinbergen Institute. It is really a wonderful experience to know you all and work together with you. Especially Simin He, Tong Wang, Hao Zhang, Jindi Zheng and Qian Lu, we had a lot of interesting discussions about not only research but also life during our weekend afternoon tea sessions. Thanks to Yuxin Yao for your willingness to be my paranimfen during the defense.

Thanks to Jaime Vega Martinez for his encouragement and patience to help me cope with the frustration mood when completing this thesis. Finally, I am greatly indebted to my family for their endless support, especially my mom. They all stood by me with both the great and difficult moments of life.

The Tinbergen Institute is the Institute for Economic Research, which was founded in 1987 by the Faculties of Economics and Econometrics of the Erasmus University Rotterdam, University of Amsterdam and VU University Amsterdam. The Institute is named after the late Professor Jan Tinbergen, Dutch Nobel Prize laureate in economics in 1969. The Tinbergen Institute is located in Amsterdam and Rotterdam.
