

New land, old history: past landscapes and hominin activity covering the last 220,000 years in Flevoland, The Netherlands

Don F.A.M. van den Biggelaar

Geoarchaeological and Bioarchaeological Studies
Volume 17, 2017

Geoarchaeological and Bioarchaeological Studies is published by the Faculty of Earth and Life Sciences of the Vrije Universiteit at Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

The series presents Ph.D. studies, scientific reports of contract research, conference proceedings, etc., in the field of archaeological science. Contributions should be written in English. Manuscripts in Dutch will be accepted only as an exception.

Editorial Board H. Kars and S.J. Kluiving

Pre-press Vrije Universiteit, Amsterdam

Coverdesign Bert Brouwenstijn, Vrije Universiteit, Amsterdam

Printed by Ipskamp Drukkers B.V., Amsterdam

Distribution You may order volumes of the series by sending an e-mail message to h.kars@vu.nl. The present volume can also be ordered by sending a message to don.vandenbiggelaar@gmail.com.

This volume presents the Ph.D. thesis of Don F.A.M. van den Biggelaar, reviewed by the Thesis Committee composed of Prof.dr. R. van Balen (Amsterdam), Prof.dr. R. Brown (Southampton), Dr. J. de Moor (Amersfoort), Dr. E. Rensink (Amersfoort) and Prof.dr. B. Schütt (Berlin).

The publication of the thesis in this series was made possible with the financial support of the Foundation for Anthropology and Prehistory in the Netherlands (SNMAP) and the Nieuw Land Erfgoedcentrum (Provincial museum of Flevoland in Lelystad, The Netherlands).

All rights reserved

© Faculty of Earth and Life Sciences, Vrije Universiteit, Amsterdam

ISSN 1571-0750

On the cover: Placed on top of each other are four outline maps of the Province of Flevoland (central Netherlands). These four maps signify the four periods of investigation in this dissertation. The different colours of the four outline maps symbolize the distinctive landscape in Flevoland during each of these periods (designed by Don F.A.M. van den Biggelaar).