

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PART I: INTRODUCTION	6
Chapter 1 General introduction and outline of this thesis	9
Chapter 2 Design of the Advance Directive Cohort: a study of end-of-life decision-making focusing on advance directives	21
PART II: THE MEANING OF ADVANCE DIRECTIVES	36
Chapter 3 Advance directives in The Netherlands: An empirical contribution to the exploration of a cross-cultural perspective on advance directives	39
Chapter 4 Motivations, aims and communication around advance directives. A mixed-methods study into the perspective of their owners and the influence of a current illness.	57
Chapter 5 Continuing or forgoing treatment at the end of life? Preferences of the general public and people with an advance directive	75
PART III: OVER TIME	92
Chapter 6 Stability of end-of-life preferences in relation to health status and life-events: a cohort study with a 6-year follow-up among holders of an advance directive.	95
Chapter 7 Preferences on forgoing treatment are stable over time with people owning an advance directive; a cohort study.	111
Chapter 8 Preferences about euthanasia and their stability over time: a longitudinal cohort study	127
PART IV: GENERAL DISCUSSION	136
Chapter 9 General discussion	139
Addenda	166
- Summary	169
- Nederlandse samenvatting	177
- Dankwoord	187
- About the author	191
- List of scientific publications	195